The Declaration of Independence is generally regarded as one of the most famous documents in the history of the world. On June 10, 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a committee, consisting of Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston to draft a Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson wrote out a rough draft of the Declaration, which was carefully revised by the committee and presented to Congress for adoption. After some further slight revisions by that body, it was adopted on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia.

The parchment with the original signatures was deposited with the Department of State when the government was organized in 1789.

The original Declaration of Independence is now on public exhibition in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C. It was transferred from the Department of State by direction of the late President Warren G. Harding.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES
IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people should relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither; and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine

Providence we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The United States Constitution is the oldest federal constitution in existence. It was so well framed that it has served as the basis for this government for a century and a half. Only once has it been seriously endangered, this being during the Civil War. Many of its principles have been adopted by other countries.

The Constitution was the outgrowth of a convention of delegates from the different states that met in Philadelphia in May, 1787, Rhode Island not being represented. George Washington presided over the convention, which lasted from May to September.

The Constitution was then submitted to the then existing states for ratification, with a provision that it should become effective when ratified by nine states. New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify, June 21, 1788, and the Constitution went into effect in 1789.

The states ratified the Constitution in the following order: Delaware, Dec. 7; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, and New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2; Connecticut, Jan. 9; Massachusetts, Feb. 6; Maryland, Apr. 28; South Carolina, May 23; New Hampshire, June 21; Virginia, June 26, and New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789, and Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The Constitution originally consisted of a Preamble and seven Articles, and in that form was completed and signed at a convention of the States, Sept. 17, 1787. The Government under the Constitution was declared in effect on the first Wednesday in March, 1789.

THE CONSTITUTION

Preamble.—WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1.

Legislative powers vested in Congress.—All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 2.

Composition of the House of Representatives.—1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

Qualifications of Representatives.—2. No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty-five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Apportionment of Representatives and direct taxes—census.—*3. [Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other persons.] The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

* The clause included in brackets is amended by the fourteenth amendment, second section.

Filling of vacancies in representation.—4. When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

Selection of officers; power of impeachment.—5. The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

*SECTION 3.

The Senate.—[1. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.]

Classification of Senators; filling of vacancies.—2. Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one-third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments [until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.]

* The first paragraph of section three of Article I of the Constitution of the United States, and so much of paragraph two of the same section as relates to filling vacancies are amended by the seventeenth amendment to the Constitution.

Qualification of Senators.—3. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

Vice President to be President of Senate.—4. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

Selection of Senate officers; President pro tempore.—5. The Senate, shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

Senate to try impeachment.—6. The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in case of impeachment.—7. Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust, or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

SECTION 4.

Control of congressional elections.—1. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

Time for assembling of Congress.—2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different day.

* Amended by Article XX, section 2, of the amendments to the Constitution.

SECTION 5.

Each House to be the judge of the election and qualifications of its members; regulations as to quorum.—1. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House to determine its own rules.—2. Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Journals and yeas and nays.—3. Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

Adjournment.—4. Neither House, during the Session of Congress shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6.

Compensation and privileges of Members of Congress.—1. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Incompatible offices; exclusions.—2. No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

SECTION 7.

Revenue bills to originate in House.—1. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Manner of passing bills; veto power of President.—2. Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall before it becomes a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Concurrent orders or resolutions, to be passed by President.—3. Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

SECTION 8.

General powers of Congress.

The Congress shall have Power.—1. To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

Borrowing of money.—2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

Regulation of commerce.—3. To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

Naturalization and bankruptcy.—4. To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States.

Money, weights and measures.—5. To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures.

Counterfeiting.—6. To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States.

Post offices.—7. To establish Post Offices and post roads.

Patents and copyrights.—8. To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries.

Inferior courts.—9. To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court.

Piracies and felonies.—10. To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offenses against the Law of Nations.

* By Article XVI of the amendments to the Constitution, Congress is given the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes.

War; marque and reprisal.—11. To declare war, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water.

Armies.—12. To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years.

Navy.—13. To provide and maintain a Navy.

Land and naval forces.—14. To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces.

Calling out militia.—15. To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions.

Organizing, arming and disciplining militia.—16. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States, respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

Exclusive legislation over District of Columbia.—17. To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings;—and

To enact laws necessary to enforce Constitution.—18. To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or Officer thereof.

SECTION 9.

Migration or importation of certain persons not to be prohibited before 1808.—1. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

Writ of habeas corpus not to be suspended; exception.—

2. The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

Bills of attainder and ex post facto laws prohibited.—

3. No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

Capitation and other direct taxes.—*4. No capitation, or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census of Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

Exports not to be taxed.—5. No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.

No preference to be given to ports of any State; interstate shipping.—6. No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another; nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

Money, how drawn from treasury; financial statements to be published.—7. No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

Titles of nobility not to be granted; acceptance by government officers of favors from foreign powers.—8. AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

The following amendments from articles I to X inclusive, were proposed at the first session of the first Congress of the United States, which was begun and held at the city of New York on the 4th day of March, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of states, as follows: New Jersey, Nov. 20, 1789; Maryland, Dec. 19, 1789; North Carolina, Dec. 22, 1789; South Carolina,

Jan. 19, 1790; New Hampshire, Jan. 25, 1790; Delaware, Jan. 28, 1790; Pennsylvania, March 10, 1790; New York, March 27, 1790; Rhode Island, June 15, 1790; Vermont, Nov. 3, 1791, and Virginia, Dec. 15, 1791.

The following preamble and resolution preceded the original proposition of the amendments, and as they have been supposed by a high equity judge to have an important bearing on the construction of those amendments, they are here inserted. They will be found in the journals of the first session of the first congress.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES

Begun and held at the city of New York, on Wednesday, the 4th day of March, 1789.

The conventions of a number of the states having, at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, and as extending the ground of public confidence in the government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, that the following articles be proposed to the legislature of the several states, as amendments to the constitution of the United States; all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of the said legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I.

Freedom of religion, of speech, of the press, and right of petition.—Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

Right of people to bear arms not to be infringed.—A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

Quartering of troops.—No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

Persons and houses to be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures.—The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

Trials for crimes; just compensation for private property taken for public use.—No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

Civil rights in trials for crime enumerated.—In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.

Civil rights in civil suits.—In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried in a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail, fines and punishments prohibited.—Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

Reserved rights of people.—The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

Powers not delegated, reserved to States and people respectively.—The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

[The eleventh amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the third Congress on March 5, 1794, and was declared in force January 8, 1798.]

ARTICLE XI.

Judicial power of United States not to extend to suits against a State.—The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

[The twelfth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the eighth Congress on December 12, 1803, and was declared in force September 25, 1804.]

ARTICLE XII.

Present mode of electing President and Vice-President by electors.—The Electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

* Amended by Article XX, sections 3 and 4, of the amendments to the Constitution.

[The thirteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the thirty-eighth Congress on February 1, 1865, and was declared in force December 18, 1865.]

ARTICLE XIII.

SECTION 1.

Slavery prohibited.—Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SECTION 2.

Congress given power to enforce this article.—Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The fourteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the thirty-ninth Congress on June 16, 1866, and was declared in force July 28, 1868.]

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1.

Citizenship defined; privileges of citizens.—All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECTION 2.

Apportionment of Representatives.—Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SECTION 3.

Disqualification for office; removal of disability.—No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SECTION 4.

Public debt not to be questioned; payment of debts and claims incurred in aid of rebellion forbidden.—The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION 5.

Congress given power to enforce this article.—The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

[The fifteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the fortieth Congress on February 27, 1869, and was declared in force March 30, 1870.]

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1.

Right of certain citizens to vote established.—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SECTION 2.

Congress given power to enforce this article.—The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The sixteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-first Congress on July 12, 1909, and was declared in force February 25, 1913.]

ARTICLE XVI.

Taxes on incomes; Congress given power to lay and collect.—The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

[The seventeenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-second Congress on May 16, 1912, and was declared in force May 31, 1913.]

ARTICLE XVII.

Election of United States Senators; filling of vacancies; qualifications of electors.—1. The Senate of the United States will be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

2. When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies; Provided, that the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointment until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

3. This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

[The eighteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-fifth Congress, and was declared on January 29, 1919, as going into full force and effect on January 16, 1920.]

*ARTICLE XVIII.

Manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, prohibited.—1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Congress and the several States given concurrent power to pass appropriate legislation to enforce this article.—2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Provisions of article to become operative, when adopted by three-fourths of the States.—3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

[The nineteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-sixth Congress on May 19, 1919, and declared in force August 26, 1920.]

ARTICLE XIX.

The right of citizens to vote shall not be denied because of sex.—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

* Repealed by Article XXI, effective December 5, 1933.

[The twentieth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the states by the seventy-second Congress, Senate Joint Res. 14, passed by the House of Representatives on March 1, 1932; the Senate March 2, 1932; signed by the Speaker of the House March 2, 1932, by the Vice-President of the U. S. and the President of the Senate March 3, 1932. Ratification by the thirty-sixth state occurred January 23, 1933. Sections 1 and 2 of the amendment became effective October 15, 1933.]

ARTICLE XX.

SECTION 1.

Terms of President, Vice-President, Senators and Representatives.—The terms of the President and Vice-President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

SECTION 2.

Time of assembling Congress.—The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 3.

Filling vacancy in office of President.—If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice-President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice-President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice-President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice-President shall have qualified.

SECTION 4.

Power of Congress in Presidential succession.—The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President

whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice-President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

SECTION 5.

Time of taking effect.—Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

SECTION 6.

Ratification.—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission.

[The twenty-first amendment, which follows, was proposed by the seventy-second Congress, second session beginning December 5, 1932. Senate Joint Resolution 211, passed February 20, 1933, provided for ratification by conventions in three-fourths of the States. The amendment became effective with ratification by Utah, the thirty-sixth state, on December 5, 1933.]

STATUS OF ACTION ON PROPOSED FEDERAL CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT.

Department of State, Washington, May 1, 1939.

By Joint Resolution of Congress, June 2, 1924, the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States was proposed:

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"Section 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of the State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress."

RATIFICATION.

THE UNITED STATES

The United States is composed of forty-eight states, one district, and seven non-contiguous territories and possessions.

The republic originated in the rebellion of the British Colonies of North America, Canada excepted, in 1776, and in the Declaration of Independence, the thirteen colonies in revolt styled themselves "The United States of America."

The Canadian boundary line is 3,900 miles in length, the Mexican boundary line being 1,975 miles in length.

According to the 1940 Federal census, the first basic re-measurement of the land and water area of the United States since 1880 showed a total area of 3,022,387 square miles, consisting of 2,977,128 square miles land area, and 45,259 square miles inland water area.

The 1940 Federal census gave the United States, and all territorial possessions, a population of 150,621,231, Continental United States having 131,669,275; territorial possessions, excluding Philippine Islands, 2,595,956; Philippine Islands 16,356,000.

The Capitol of the United States is at Washington, D. C. The corner stone of the original building was laid on September 18, 1793 by President George Washington. The original building was finally completed in 1827, its cost, including the grading of grounds, alterations and repairs up to that year, having been $2,433,844.13.

THE UNITED STATES

With creation, date of admission, area and population

There is no specific form of procedure provided in the United States Constitution for the admission of new states to the Union. Different methods of admission have marked the addition of the thirty-five states to the original thirteen. For admission, however, certain conditions must exist. The community must be organized with a population in numbers and character capable of upholding self-government and Congress is the final judge as to these requirements. The decisions of Congress, however, have frequently been influenced by party reasons, and in 1872 it was enacted that no state should be admitted thereafter unless it had the necessary population entitling it to at least one representative, according to a ratio of representation fixed. To gain admission, a petition is presented to Congress, which grants an enabling act if the request is favorably received. When all the terms of the enabling act have been complied with, Congress, by resolution, or the President, by proclamation, declares the new state admitted to the Union.

1950 U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, Population of Continental United States by Regions, Divisions and States: April 1, 1950. (Final)

The total population of the United States on April 1, 1950, was 150,697,361, according to an announcement of final figures from the 1950 Census of Population made by Roy V. Peel, Director, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. During the last 10 years, the United States experienced an all-time record population growth between successive censuses of 19,028,086. The growth of population during this decade was nearly 2,000,000 greater than the former intercensal record growth of 17,064,426 for the period between 1920 and 1930. Between 1940 and 1950, the population of the United States increased at a rate of 14.5 per cent, or twice as rapidly as during the thirties. As in the past, the West was the region with the greatest rate of growth, 40.9 per cent. Each of the other three regions of the United States increased in population, but the rate of growth in these regions was far below that of the West.

For the first time, the West led the regions in the amount of increase in population, 5,678,260, as well as in the rate of increase. The major part of this gain was concentrated in the Pacific Division, that is, the States of California, Oregon, and Washington. In the Mountain Division, population increased at a rate appreciably higher than the national average, but because the division is relatively sparsely settled, the population gain amounted to only 924,995.

The most prominent population increase among the States was that of California, the population of which in 1950 was 10,586,223, representing an increase of 3,678,836, or 53.3 per cent, over the 6,907,387 inhabitants enumerated in the 1940 Census. Population growth in this one State exceeded that of the entire Northeast Region. As a result of the spectacular increase in population in California, the State now ranks second to New York in size whereas in 1940 it ranked fifth. Four other States, New York, Texas, Michigan, and Ohio, had gains of over 1,000,000.

The only State other than California to gain at a rate in excess of 50 per cent was Arizona. The bordering States of Nevada, Utah, and New Mexico all had gains of more than 25 per cent, and together with Arizona form a second center of rapid population growth. A third center of heavy population growth is found in and near the seat of the United States Government. The District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia each had increases of more than 20 per cent.

Nineteen States and the District of Columbia gained at a more rapid rate than the Nation as a whole. Of the remaining States, all but four gained population. The four States with population losses were Arkansas, Mississippi, North Dakota, and Oklahoma. The losses and the rates of declines were relatively small. The numerical declines ranged from fewer than 5,000 in Mississippi to slightly more than 100,000 in Oklahoma. These States also had the lowest and highest rates of decline, 0.2 and 4.4 per cent, respectively.

PART FIRST

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1st. All men are born equally free and independent: Therefore, all government, of right, originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

[ART.] *2^d. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights—among which are, the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting, property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

[ART.] 3^d. When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to ensure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

[ART.] 4th. Among the natural rights, some are, in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the Rights of Conscience.

[ART.] 5th. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion; provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

[ART.] 6th. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay, in the hearts of men, the strongest obligations to due subjection; and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society, by the institution of the public worship of the Deity, and of public instruction in morality and religion; therefore, to promote these important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature, to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies, within this state, to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality:

Right of electing religious teachers. Sm., 1. liii, 9, 138. lvi, 508. lviii, 170. lxvi, 230.

Provided notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies, shall, at all times, have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person, of any one particular religious sect or denomination, shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect, or denomination.

Free toleration. liii, 9.

And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly, and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; And no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another, shall ever be established by law.

Existing contracts not affected.

And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain, and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

State sovereignty. lxvi, 369.

[ART.] 7th. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, pertaining thereto, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

Accountability of magistrates and officers. lxvi, 369. lxvii, 49.

[ART.] 8th. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

No hereditary office or place.

[ART.] 9th. No officer or place, whatsoever, in government, shall be hereditary—the abilities and integrity requisite in all, not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

[ART.] 10th. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security, of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men; therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted, and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to reform the old, or establish a new government. The doctrine of nonresistance against arbitrary power, and oppression, is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

[ART.] 11th. All elections ought to be free, and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect, and be elected, into office; [but no person shall have the right to vote or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language and to write; provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person who shall be sixty years of age or upwards on the first day of January, A. D. 1904;]* [and provided further that no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall have been convicted of treason, bribery, or any wilful violation of the election laws of this state, or of the United States; but the supreme court may, on notice to the attorney-general restore the privileges of an elector to any person who may have forfeited them by conviction of such offences.]† [The general court shall have power to provide by law for voting by qualified voters who at the time of biennial or state elections or of city elections are absent from the city or town of which they are inhabitants, or who by reason

[ART.] 12th. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it, in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property; he is therefore bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they, or their representative body, have given their consent.

[ART.] 13th. No person, who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms, shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

[ART.] 14th. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

[ART.] 15th. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime, or offense, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense, by himself, and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

[ART.] 16th. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense. Nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment, (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

No person to be again tried after an acquittal; trial by jury in capital cases.

[ART.] 17th. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts, in the vicinity where they happened, is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate, of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed;—except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court, that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and upon their report, the [legislature]* shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

Standing armies.

[ART.] 20th. In all controversies concerning property—and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced, [and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, and title of real estate is not concerned]†† the parties have a right to a trial by jury and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relates to mariners' wages the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

[ART.] 21st. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of the trial by jury, great care ought to be taken, that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to [be]* fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

[ART.] 22d. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state: It ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

[ART.] 23d. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes, or the punishment of offenses.

Military, subject to civil power.

[ART.] 27th. No soldier in time of peace, shall be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; and in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

Quartering of soldiers.

[ART.] 28th. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty, shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people, or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

Taxes to be levied only by the people or legislature. xiv, 98. lxxiv, 528, 535, 539. lxxvi, 611.

[ART.] 29th. The power of suspending the laws, or the execution of them, ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

Suspension of laws by the legislature only.

[ART.] 30th. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate, in either house of the legislature, is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution, in any other court or place whatsoever.

Freedom of speech.

[ART.] 31st. [The legislature shall assemble for the redress of public grievances and for making such laws as the public good may require.]*

Meetings of legislature, for what purposes.

[ART.] 32^d. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

[It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is therefore not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well; subject, however, to such limitations, on account of age, as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.]†

[ART.] 36th. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one; no pension shall be granted, but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution, by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

[ART.] 37th. In the government of this state, the three essential powers thereof, to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial, ought to be kept as separate from, and independent of, each other, as the nature of a free government will admit, or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of union and amity.

[ART.] 38th. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government; the people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives, and they have a right to require of their law-givers and magistrates, an

HISTORY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION

New Hampshire is situated the most northern of the thirteen original states and lies between latitude 42-40 and 45-18 north and longitude 70-37 and 72-37 west. It is about 180 miles long and 50 miles wide, although the extreme width is 93 miles.

It is bounded on the north by Quebec province in Canada, on the east by Maine and the Atlantic ocean, on the south by Massachusetts, and on the west by Vermont. The Connecticut River is the western boundary.

"MOTHER OF RIVERS"

Geographies sometimes speak of the state as the "Mother of Rivers." Five of the great streams of New England originate in its granite hills. The Connecticut River rises in the northern part, and for nearly one hundred miles of its winding course hems the shores of the state with a "broad seam of silver." The Pemigewasset River starts in the Profile Lake in the Franconia mountains and joins the Winnepesaukee at Franklin to form the Merrimack, which at one time turned more spindles than any other river in the world. The Cocheco and Salmon Falls rivers join at Dover to form the Piscataqua. In addition, two of the principal rivers of Maine, the Androscoggin and the Saco, have their beginnings in northern New Hampshire.

New Hampshire has 1300 lakes or ponds and 40,000 miles of rivers and streams which provide year round fishing and recreation in scenic surroundings, as well as power for the State's many industries.

"THE GRANITE STATE"

New Hampshire is commonly known as the Granite State, and of late years by some writers is called the Queen State — "Queen by right of her natural beauty; queen by her native hardy spirit; queen by her diversified industry; queen by reason of her motherhood of great men. She is enthroned on hills of granite, diademed with sparkling waters and sceptered with industry."

The state entertains annually over a million summer visitors, who resort in the mountain, lake and seashore scenery, — in fact it has been estimated that a million automobiles cross our borders annually! The soil is suitable for fruits, flowers and vegetables. The forests of pine, spruce and hard wood add beauty to the landscape and wealth to the land.

The White Mountains are the natural feature which has the widest fame. New Hampshire bodies of water cover one hundred and fifteen thousand acres and vary from small ponds to Lake Winnepesaukee, which is twenty-two miles long and eight miles wide.

New Hampshire's publicly-owned aerial tramway, the first erected to a mountain top in North America, is located in Franconia Notch near The Old Man of the Mountain. Its cars have carried 2,000,000 passengers in their eight-minute ascent of the 2022 feet to the top.

No state grows apples of finer flavor than come from the hillsides of New Hampshire. Horticultural shows have no better exhibits than are presented from towns in the southern part of this state, where the orchards have been sprayed and treated by the latest scientific methods. Strawberries, blueberries, peaches and products of the garden are grown in great quantities and shipped hundreds of miles.

New Hampshire is also famous for her products made from the sap of the maple tree.

Dairying is a large business and in recent years the quality of the herds has increased tenfold. There are 5,779,840 acres of land in the state, 1,960,061 acres being in farm land, with the number of farms estimated at 16,554, according to the 1940 farm census. There were over two and one-half million acres of timber land, which contained over thirty billion feet of merchantable timber, but the disastrous hurricane of 1938 has sadly depleted the standing timber in New Hampshire's granite hills.

It is estimated that every year more than four million dollars is permanently invested in the purchase of land and the construction of buildings in the rural districts. Nearly every town has some summer visitors. Winnepesaukee shores are lined with cottages and hotels; Sunapee has a summer population of over five thousand, who enjoy its beauties.

The state has a seaboard of about eighteen miles. Hampton and Rye beaches have been famous summer resorts since the days Whittier pitched his "tent on the beach." The salt waves of the Atlantic lap the sometimes sandy, sometimes rocky coast into one continuous pleasure ground, where surf bathing and scenic beauty enchant the visitor. In the early fall of 1915 a disastrous fire at Hampton Beach destroyed many of the hotels and places of business there, but the resort has since been rebuilt from the ruins until it is larger and more attractive than ever. The recreational area at Hampton Beach has greatly improved the appearance of that part of the coast. The state maintains a large public bath house and a parking area there. The erection of a sea wall in 1934 not only improved the property along the coast, but was a necessary measure against coast erosion.

Among New Hampshire's all-year, all-season recreation attractions, none are more popular than its winter sports. Mount Washington is the highest mountain east of the Rockies and north of the Mason-Dixon Line. Its privately-owned cog railway was the first mountain climbing railway in the world.

New Hampshire has some of the finest ski terrain in the east where the sport may be enjoyed well into July and August. Its many lifts include the widely known Cranmore skimobile, operated all year, and Tuckerman, Cannon, Sunapee and Gilford slopes.

Portsmouth, the only sea city, has an historic past and a prosperous present with its large navy yard. New Castle is a place of romance and aesthetic beauty and adventure. A large part of the Isles of Shoals in Portsmouth harbor belongs to New Hampshire, with their cottages and hotels. Lobster fishermen find the Isles of Shoals and the New Hampshire coast favorable areas for taking this famous sea food. The state highways are as fine as any state can boast of and are kept in excellent driving condition the year round. New Hampshire is open to visitors, from the coast to the mountains, twelve months in the year.

FISH AND GAME

In 1865 New Hampshire joined the vanguard of American science by establishing a fish and game department, the first one of its kind in New England. Since that date, some eighty odd years ago, the efforts of this department have been devoted to the propagation and conservation of fish and game.

In modern times the cultivation of fish and the protection of wild life have demanded the application of scientific methods quite as much as any other element of our life. It is a known fact that while European countries have found vast resources in their shore fisheries, the United States is by no means able to rely on her coast fisheries, and has thus been obliged to develop her inland waters to meet the needs that otherwise could have been met only by importation from other countries. Moreover, while Europe's supply is bound to lessen in time to come, our supply will continue to increase.

Today, New Hampshire's Fish & Game Department employs a balanced team of trained wildlife men, fish culturists, and law enforcement officers to maintain and increase the available supplies of her native species under the pressure of vastly increased demand. To do so means that every one of her waters and every bit of cover must be contributing its full share to the state's crop. Research personnel are constantly exploring new avenues to increase natural productivity, while evaluating the results of current practices.

Since World War II, a program of modernization and expansion of fish rearing facilities has more than doubled the annual output available for stocking. Beautiful new rearing stations which rank with any in the country for modern design and efficient operation have been built at Merrymeeting Lake, New Durham, at Summer Brook in Ossipee, and at Merrimack, between Manchester and Nashua. Five other stations at Colebrook, Twin Mountain, Warren, New Hampton, and Richmond have been completely reconditioned.

Fish and game is now recognized as a major factor in the recreation business which is one of New Hampshire's foremost sources of revenue. We can be justly proud of the effective teamwork between department personnel and the sportsmen of the state who are looking forward with the eye of true conservationists to establishing the fish and wildlife species of our state on a secure footing for future years. Deer, grouse, black bear, snowshoe hares, landlocked salmon, togue, black bass, and several species of brook trout are only a few of the wild residents which are to be found in such plenty as to make sportsmen choose New Hampshire first.

"COME TO NEW HAMPSHIRE"

New Hampshire believes in progress and development in every direction. It is the third most industrialized state in the Union and prizes itself on the quality and diversification of its products. New Hampshire is the home of the famous breed of poultry known as the "New Hampshires." She invites the whole world to visit her mountains, the "playground of America." Those seeking opportunity for profitable farming will do well to write for further information to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Concord, N. H.; sportsmen are invited to send for literature and advice to the Fish and Game Director, Concord, N. H.; those looking for business openings, either in manufacturing enterprises or in the retail field, should correspond with the New Hampshire Planning and Development Commission, Concord, N. H.

The Boston & Maine Railroad Publicity Bureau at Boston, Mass., Storowton Village, Eastern States Exposition Grounds, West Springfield, Mass., the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association and the New Hampshire Historical Society, Concord, N. NEW HAMPSHIRE

New Hampshire was one of the thirteen original colonies which revolted from English rule and founded the United States of America, one hundred and eighty years ago. When this continent was settled, New Hampshire was a part of a grant made in 1620 by James I, King of England, to the Plymouth Company, a commercial organization formed to develop the "new world."

It was the first of the original states to declare its independence and to adopt a constitution. As the ninth and deciding state to ratify the Federal Constitution it may be said to have "created" the United States.

The name of New Hampshire was first given to this section in 1629, when the Council of Plymouth granted to Captain John Mason

"that part of the mainland in New England" between the Merrimack and Piscataqua Rivers, and extending sixty miles inland.

In 1622 a grant of part of New Hampshire was given by patent to Captain Mason and a partner, Sir Ferdinand Gorges, by the Council of Plymouth. Robert Gorges was appointed the first governor, and he came to America two years later and assumed his office. Five years later the patent of Laconia was granted to a company of traders, but the extent of the company's jurisdiction was not definitely settled upon.

In 1635 the Council of Plymouth released to the Crown all lands it owned, reserving, of course, all lands it had meanwhile granted to others. Those reservations included a grant of Dover called the Hilton Patent and a later grant to Captain Mason and eight others in common of a large tract on both sides of the Piscataqua River, the portion in New Hampshire being bounded on the north by the Hilton Patent. Captain Mason was thus placed in the position, not only of recognizing the Hilton Patent, but also of sharing with his eight partners, a large section of New Hampshire, including all of the present Portsmouth, Newington, New Castle, nearly all of Rye and Greenland, and perhaps parts of Hampton, Stratham, Exeter and Newmarket.

In 1635 the Council of Plymouth re-issued its patent to Mason and then dissolved. A document purporting to be a charter directly from the king of England to Captain Mason, issued that same year, giving the captain the New Hampshire territory then held by him, is in existence, but whether or not this document is authentic is a question among historians.

The first settlement in New Hampshire was in Rye (then called "Little Harbor" and afterwards called Portsmouth,) in 1623, the second settlement at Dover in 1628, the third at Exeter in 1638, and the fourth at Hampton in 1639. The objects of these adventures into the primitive wilderness of New Hampshire were to clear the land for cultivation, to seek for the mineral wealth which was supposed to exist, to establish and carry on fisheries on the rivers, which teemed with fish, and along the coast, and to barter with the native Indian tribes of the locality.

The Massachusetts colonists had come to America to found settlements where they might have freedom in religious worship—a freedom which, however, they were unwilling to grant to any not of their faith. It was a day when religious opinions were paramount, and politics and legislation were subordinate, when creeds claimed precedence over rights. Unless a person subscribed unreservedly to the established creed he was a heretic. In such a class were the Quakers, Roger Williams, Anne Hutchinson and her brother-in-law, Rev. John Wheelwright, a man of superior endowments and high culture, who, disenfranchised and banished from Massachusetts, led forty of his exiled adherents into the wilderness of New Hampshire and settled Exeter in July, 1638.

Underlying these early settlements was a deep religious conviction, perhaps not so radical as in Massachusetts, but still present, which again manifests itself when the people of the state, while formulating a frame of government, gave the religious idea so prominent a place in the Bill of Rights.

CAPTAIN MASON'S EFFORTS

Captain Mason had been not only a faithful adherent of the king, but also a devout and zealous supporter of the Church of England. It was inevitable therefore that his ideas of government and religion should be distasteful to the Massachusetts colonists so near at hand.

Mason's activities in New Hampshire were solely of a business nature as one of the partnership, who acted by agents. They instituted no government. The same was true at the first on the Maine side of the river. But soon the partners divided the land on that side in severalty (though never dividing their land in New Hampshire), and to Mason fell in severalty the principal trading center at Newichwanock, on the east side of the river. This was the only "colony" that Mason can be said to have had separately in New England. He died in 1635, and while his efforts to occupy the land allotted to him in Maine were persevering and meritorious, the founding of colonies was a matter requiring expenditures on such a scale that the surviving partners ceased activity in New Hampshire. Within twenty years after Mason's death, no vestige (except ruins) remained to witness any activity here to which Captain Mason had had a part. What happened to this separate property in Maine is not properly a part of the history of New Hampshire. There was no provincial government in those days, but each town maintained its own government. The weakness of the "four towns" (Dover, Exeter, Hampton and Portsmouth) and their varying origins prevented union. Each separately was without judicial power. So in 1641 and 1643 the towns resigned jurisdiction to Massachusetts Bay. Hampton and Exeter became, with Salisbury and Haverhill of Massachusetts, the County of Norfolk. The County of Dover and Portsmouth soon took the name of Piscataqua, which was the early name for the region on the river.

BECOMES ROYAL PROVINCE, 1679

After thirty-eight years as a part of Massachusetts, New Hampshire became a province of itself in 1679 by an order of the king of England, which was preceded by a decree of the English courts to the effect that Massachusetts had no right to extend its jurisdiction over New Hampshire.

King Charles II issued a commission to John Cutt of Portsmouth in that year to be president of the province and to govern it under the king, with aid of a council and assembly. This was the real beginning of constitutional government in this territory, which has continued without serious interruption to the present time.

The commission of the king reserved to him the right to veto all the acts of the provincial legislature and the right to dissolve the legislature at his pleasure. The New Hampshire settlers did not like this arrangement as well as they did the jurisdiction of Massachusetts.

The governors sent to the province by the king proved to be avaricious tyrants. Even the Lords of Trade in England would not uphold them in some of their actions, and time and again, at the instigation of the heirs to Captain Mason, the royal governors tried to force the people to surrender their titles to lands and take leases from the Masonian Proprietors.

THE MASONIAN CONTROVERSY

In 1690 the people, mindful of their former pleasant relations with Massachusetts, resolved on a second union with their old ally, and sent a petition to William and Mary of England.

Through the influence of Samuel Allen, who had bought out the interests of the Mason heirs, the king failed to grant this request, and the union, which had been accepted by Massachusetts, was short lived.

Allen was appointed governor and his son-in-law became his deputy. In this way were the claims of Mason's heirs, so abhorrent to the people, continued until the death of Allen's son early in the reign of Queen Anne. An association of New Hampshire men called the Masonian Proprietors bought the rights of the Mason heirs, left alone the lands in the settled areas of New Hampshire, and granted out the undeveloped parts of Mason's 1629 grant.

For forty-three years, from 1698 until 1741, New Hampshire and Massachusetts were under the same governor, although each province maintained its identity. At the expiration of this period a new arrangement was made by which New Hampshire had one of its own sons, Benning Wentworth, appointed governor, and the provincial legislature was given increased authority.

He served for twenty-six years during an era of good feeling such as the colony had never before known. He was a benefactor of Moor's Indian School, which under his successor was chartered as Dartmouth College.

He was succeeded by his nephew, John Wentworth, in 1767 who also was well received by the people and by the assembly. As governor, he granted a charter to Dartmouth College and endowed it with forty-five thousand acres of land.

"He was universally beloved by the people. He had uniformly endeavored to promote the general public welfare by encouraging commerce, constructing highways, establishing courts and fostering learning." (Sanborn.)

But in 1774, as representative of King George III, he assisted General Gage in his work on fortifications in Boston. This brought down upon him the intense dislike of the revolutionary party and he fled from the state to Boston, where he might have the protection of General Gage. He was the last of royal governors.

Before Governor Wentworth quit, the provincial legislature took official action in regard to the revolution, and a committee of safety was organized. This committee summoned a revolutionary assembly, which met in Exeter and was known as the First Provincial Congress. Four other congresses of similar character followed.

The last meeting of the old provincial assembly took place in 1775. The same year the American Continental Congress gave the New Hampshire revolutionists the right to set up a new government.

THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

About one-half of the soldiers at the Battle of Bunker Hill were New Hampshire troops under the command of such leaders as John Stark, James Reid, and Enoch Poor. Throughout the struggle for independence the revolutionary state government, under the direction of the committee of safety, of which Meshech Weare was president, furnished troops in large numbers.

General John Sullivan distinguished himself on many battlefields, and the exploits of General Stark at Bennington are incidents of renown. It was largely the New Hampshire forces which brought about the surrender of Burgoyne.

With the close of the Revolution this state entered actively into the organization of the federal government. John Langdon, one of the early governors, was the first president of the United States senate, and was nominated for vice-president of the nation.

In 1780 a petition by the slaves for freedom was circulated in this state. Dartmouth College began to develop about that time and the legislature gave the college the right to raise money by a lottery. In 1792 the first bank was chartered to do business, and the year before, the State Medical Society was founded, with Governor Joseph Bartlett at its head. In 1796 the first turnpike and state highway from Concord to Portsmouth was chartered.

SECOND WAR WITH ENGLAND

When the second war with England broke out in 1812 Governor John Langdon drafted thirty-five hundred men at the request of the president. The state militia at that time was in its most flourishing condition and consisted of three divisions, six brigades and thirty-seven regiments.

William Plumer succeeded to the governorship before hostilities had advanced, and he organized the first regiment of New Hampshire volunteers, which later became part of the regular army. In 1813 there was a political overturn, in which former Governor John T.

Gilman defeated Governor Plumer for re-election. Governor Gilman was head of the Federalist party in the state, and its return to power was celebrated by abolishing the courts and turning out the judges and other officers. The Federalists were opposed to the war, but all the people, regardless of party, became afraid of English invasion and were solid in defense of the state. The inhabitants of Portsmouth in particular were frightened on several occasions of a British landing and attack, and Governor Gilman summoned the entire militia to the defense of that city.

A native of New Hampshire, Lewis Cass of Exeter, achieved military distinction in Michigan. He was later a senator from that state, candidate for the presidency in 1848 and the secretary of state under Buchanan. In 1814 a secessionary gathering was held at Hartford, Connecticut, at which delegates were present from most of the New England States. Governor Gilman was blocked in his efforts to secure New Hampshire representation at the convention by three of his councilors, who were Democrats.

DARTMOUTH "UNIVERSITY"

In 1815 a very destructive tempest occurred. That same year there was a political tempest, when former Governor Plumer was returned to power and the judges and office-holders were again addressed out of office. The state house was located on its present site during the 1815 administration. A controversy arose over Dartmouth College, which for several years was a paramount issue in state politics. The legislature changed the name to Dartmouth University and reorganized the government of the institution, but the United States Supreme Court ruled that the legislature could not overturn a charter that had been granted by the king.

In 1817 President James Monroe visited the state, and there was an era of political good feeling which lasted for many years. In 1819 the use of the power-loom was commenced at the Amoskeag Mills in Manchester, and from that time these mills developed until they became the largest in the world. A most destructive freshet in 1824 destroyed the bridges over the Merrimack river and damaged a good deal of property.

General Lafayette visited the state in 1824 and was received with the greatest enthusiasm. In 1833 President Andrew Jackson rode on horseback into Concord, accompanied by his vice-president, Martin Van Buren, his secretary of war, Lewis Cass, who was a native of Exeter; and his secretary of the navy, Levi Woodbury of Portsmouth. Partisan feeling was bitter in those days and the celebration was indulged in principally by Democrats.

DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRY

In 1835 and subsequent years railroads were chartered and constructed in all parts of the state and a period of great commercial development was inaugurated. This led to the growth of several towns on the railroad into cities. Chief among these was Manchester, which had a fortunate location at Amoskeag Falls, and in 1846 it was incorporated as a city.

The war with Mexico broke out that year, and although there was no great enthusiasm for the war in New Hampshire, many sons of the state, such as Franklin Pierce, John Bedell and Dr. John D. Walker, took a prominent part in the military activities. After the war many other young men emigrated to the fertile prairies of the West.

In 1850 the entire expenses of the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the state government amounted to only $36,000.

During that year a convention was held to revise the Constitution, and Franklin Pierce was its president. Two years later he was elected president of the United States, receiving the support of all but four states in the Union.

Before the Pierce administration was through the Democratic party lost control of New Hampshire. In 1855 the American or Know-Nothing party elected Ralph Metcalf governor and John P. Hale senator. From this party there developed the Republican organization, which was in power through the Civil War and for nearly twenty years after. St. Paul's School in Concord was opened in 1856 and is one of the most select preparatory institutions in the country.

THE CIVIL WAR

In 1861 the Civil War broke out. During the first year of the war New Hampshire sent eight regiments of the infantry to the front, and during the second year nine more, and in 1864 still another. Altogether about thirty-nine thousand men went from this state to fight for the preservation of the union. Nineteen hundred were killed in action or died of wounds, twenty-five hundred died of disease and two hundred and eighty-five were missing. About sixteen hundred men re-enlisted after their first term of service.

In 1866 a railroad was built up Mount Washington. The following year the department of public instruction was established and from that time the state has enjoyed universal common school education. In 1874 the Democratic party obtained control of all branches of the government for the first time since the war, and there was a complete overturn in offices. In 1878 there was a revision of the laws of the state, the new prison was built, and the militia was reorganized. Biennial elections were substituted for annual elections by an amendment to the Constitution that year. In 1887 there took place a very bitter railroad struggle in the legislature between the Concord railroad and the Boston & Maine railroad. This was followed by an organization of the Boston & Maine system throughout northern New England on a basis of leases, the

New Hampshire railroads all leasing to the Boston & Maine. An attempt to reorganize the railroad by modifying or breaking the lease in 1915 and 1916 failed, and in the latter year the road went into receivership.

The history of the state since 1888 is within the memory of the generation now living and to recite it would be beyond the scope of this legislative manual, which is designed more to preserve facts concerning the early days of the state's history. For the past fifty years New Hampshire has grown in every way. Her industries have flourished, her population has increased, her churches, schools, and colleges have expanded, and her attractions as a summer resort have become known to all the world.

THE STATE HOUSE

The seat of government is at the state house in Concord and has been for over 135 years although the present capitol building is only 139 years old and has been twice remodeled. Twice have strenuous efforts been made to remove the capital to Manchester, the largest city in the state.

During the Revolutionary War the seat of government was at Exeter and all the sessions of the provincial congress or convention and the colonial house of representatives were held in that academic town. The first six sessions of the state legislature assembled at Exeter also. In 1777 the legislature met at Portsmouth for a change and again in 1780, but all the other meetings took place at Exeter until 1782, when Concord became the capital. From then until 1807 the legislature met at various places, including Concord, Exeter, Portsmouth, Hopkinton, Charlestown, Dover and Amherst. Concord sessions in those days and in the later period from 1807 to 1819 took place in the old town house that stood on the site of the Merrimack county building of today.

The state house was built in 1816 to 1819 and cost $82,000. On Tuesday, September 24, 1816, the corner stone was laid. The building was completed, and the legislature first convened in it, in June, 1819. The lot of land, consisting of about two acres, was given by the town and the stone for the building was taken out of "Rattlesnake Hill" and dressed by convicts at the state prison. At the first legislature that sat in it there were twelve senators and one hundred and ninety-two representatives.

During the Civil War the state house was too small to accommodate the legislature and officials. Manchester offered to build a new one to cost $500,000 and give it to the state for the honor of becoming the seat of government and one of the greatest and closest battles in the history of the legislature was fought over this proposition. Manchester was defeated and instead of moving, the state decided to enlarge and remodel the old building, which was done in 1864-66.

The building was remodeled after the achitecture of the Hotel Des Invalides in Paris and from that day to this it has been regarded as one of the most meritorious structures from an architectural viewpoint that there is in the country. The government outgrew the building again in 1909 so that an addition was built on, which placed the state house in its present form. Before the addition was made Manchester made its second attempt to become the capital by offering $1,000,000 to build a new building. The struggle between the two cities was fought all over again with the same result.

The cost of the first remodeling of the building was about $200,000, and of the second, $400,000.

One of the interesting attractions in the state house is the gallery of portraits in the principal offices and corridors. These portraits are of famous sons of the state, including the heroes of civil and military life, former governors, senators, secretaries of state and others.

Another noted attraction is the hall of flags in the foyer of the state house. Here are displayed many of the old provincial banners and the regimental colors of some of New Hampshire's finest. Some of these old flags were actually carried in decisive battles on the bloody fields of a hard-won independence and are an integral part of New Hampshire's interesting background.

By 1937, with many of the state's large and important departments scattered over the city of Concord in privately-owned buildings, it became increasingly evident that additional offices were a growing necessity. In the past two decades, state and federal government had grown by leaps and bounds and once again the state house was no longer adequate to house its rapidly growing and increasing family.

Governor Francis Parnell Murphy, in his message to the incoming legislature, on January 7, 1937, recommended the construction of a state office building adjacent to the state house, pointing out that the constantly mounting cost of rentals for outside space would go far towards defraying carrying charges and amortizing bonds for a new structure. He stressed the increase in efficiency of the departments and the reduction in costs of operation with the state government under one roof, so to speak, whereas many of the departments were fully half a mile away from the state house at that time. Furthermore, the general public, seeking contact with the various branches of state government, would find it decidedly more convenient to find their government all in one place rather than so widely scattered and so difficult to locate.

On July 21, 1937, the legislature appropriated $600,000 to be expended, together with such sums as might be received from the federal government, for the erection of a state house annex. The governor and council commissioned Wells, Hudson and Granger, Architects of Hanover, New Hampshire, to draw plans and specifications for a state office building or annex.

An application for federal assistance was immediately made by Governor Murphy, but the federal public works administration had already allocated all grants for aid on such building projects and it looked doubtful that New Hampshire would receive an appropriation although the application was pending. The project was dormant until early in 1938 when Governor Murphy again made personal appeal for assistance when it became known that additional appropriations had been granted for the federal works building program.

By extraordinary good fortune this project became number one on the list for the entire nation and, in June, 1938, New Hampshire received a grant of $288,000. Later a credit on the sums invested in the building site was granted, making a total grant of $327,000.

The corner stone for this newest addition to the state house was laid by Governor Murphy on October 25, 1938 and the building was completed on October 27, 1939. The first department to take up quarters in the new annex being the New Hampshire state police department. The building was officially dedicated on January 18, 1940. It houses twenty-one separate department offices with upward of 450 employees and is connected by an underground tunnel with the state house.

OUTLINE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE GOVERNMENTAL PERIODS

1. First Period

This was a period of early settlement in New Hampshire, from 1623 to 1641, a period of 18 years. There was no provincial organization, only local self-government. The first settlements were at Portsmouth and Dover.

Royal Executive	Governor of Plymouth Colony	Governor of Massachusetts Bay
James I 1623-26	William Bradford 1623-33	John Winthrop 1631-35
Charles I 1626-50	Edward Winslow 1634	Thomas Dudley 1635
	Thomas Prince 1635	John Haynes 1636
	William Bradford 1636	Henry Vane 1637
	Edward Winslow 1637
	(First Settlements at Hampton and Exeter)
	William Bradford 1638	John Winthrop 1638-40
	Thomas Prince 1639	Thomas Dudley 1641
	William Bradford 1640-44

2. Second Period

This was the period of the first union of the New Hampshire towns and Massachusetts Bay colony. From 1641 to 1679, 38 years.

Royal Executive
Charles I, 1626-50

Governor
Richard Bellingham, 1642

As parts of Massachusetts Bay Colony (1641-3 to 1679) the towns of Hampton, Exeter, Dover, and Strawberry Bank were comprised within Norfolk county, which was one of the four shires, viz., Essex, Middlesex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, into which the Bay Colony was separated from "3d month, 10th day 1643."

The Province of New Hampshire agitated the subject of county establishment for years previous to decisive action in 1769, one plan, which came to nought in 1755, being to make two counties, Portsmouth and Cumberland, with the Merrimack as the dividing line.

The act which passed April 29, 1769, contained the provision that it should not take effect until "his majesty's royal approbation thereof be known," and the further provision that "said counties of Strafford and Grafton shall be for the present annexed to and deemed and taken as parts and members of the County of Rockingham * * * until the governor by and with the advice of the council shall declare them respectively sufficient for the exercise of their respective jurisdictions and no longer." Governor John Wentworth, in a message to the house of representatives in March, 1771, said "It gives me great pleasure to inform you that his majesty has been graciously pleased to approve and confirm the act for dividing this Province into counties." The existence of Rockingham, Hillsborough, and Cheshire counties began on March 19, 1771, Strafford and Grafton having received authority to exercise and enjoy county privileges, as set forth in Governor John Wentworth's message to the house on May 28, 1772, their separation from Rockingham became effective on June 5, 1773, by the terms of the act of February 5, 1773, "fixing the times and places for holding courts in * * * Grafton county," four months being allowed for the building of "prisons, court houses," etc.

FIRST DIVISION

The division of 1769, by the "Act for dividing this Province into Counties and for the more easy administration of Justice," was as follows: "The bounds of the first County to begin at the mouth of Piscataqua River and to run up the same to the Easterly corner of Newmarket including the River, and from thence Northwesterly by the Easterly and Northerly sidelines of Newmarket, Epping, Nottingham, Chichester and Canterbury to the River, and down the same line of Concord including the River, then round the Westerly Lines of Bow, Concord and Pembroke to Merrimack River, thence down the same to the North west corner of Derryfield, thence by the Easterly lines of Derryfield, Litchfield and Nottingham West to the Province Line, thence by said line to the Sea, thence by the Sea to the bounds first mentioned, including all that part of the Isles of Shoals which belongs to this Province.

"The Bounds of the Second County to begin at the North west corner of Canterbury, and from thence to cross the River, then down the River to Pemigewasset, then to run up Pemigewasset River to Campton, thence round the Westerly end of Campton, and by the Northerly sidelines of Campton, Sandwich & Tamworth & thence Easterly to the Province line, on the same course with the Northerly sideline of Eaton, thence down said Province line to the line of the first County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"The bounds of the Third County to begin at the South East corner of Nottingham West, thence by the Province line to the South East corner of Rindge, thence by the Easterly sideline of Rindge, Monadnock Number two, Dublin, the Townships Number Six, Number Seven & Number Eight, thence to the South end of Sunnape Pond, thence by the Easterly side of said Pond, to the North end thereof, thence by the North westerly sideline of Dantzick Heidlebourg, and by the Northerly sidelines of Heidlebourg and North Westerly sideline of Emery's Town to Pemigewasset River, thence down the same to the bounds of the first County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"The bounds of the Fourth County to begin at the South East corner of Rindge, & from thence to run Westerly by the Province line to the Western Banks of Connecticut River, thence up the same till it comes opposite to the North west corner of Plainfield, then crossing the River to the last mentioned corner of Plainfield, thence by the Northerly sidelines of Plainfield & Grantham, to the North East corner of Grantham thence by the Easterly sideline of Grantham & the North sideline of Saville to the boundary line of the third County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"And the Fifth County to contain all the lands in the Province not comprehended in the other Countys.

"And all the Towns, Parishes, Precincts or Places within the bounds aforesaid respectively shall be deemed, accepted, named & taken as parts and Members of the respective Countys aforesaid. And the Names of the said Counties shall be and are hereby as follows viz the name of the first County Rockingham, the name of the second County Strafford, the Name of the Third County Hillsborough, the Name of the fourth County Cheshire, the Name of the fifth County Grafton. * * *

"That the said Counties of Strafford & Grafton shall be for the present annexed to, & deemed & taken as parts and Members of the County of Rockingham and Subject to the Jurisdiction and Authority of the Courts, Magistrates and Offices of the said County of Rockingham to all intents and purposes and shall remain so annexed, deemed & taken and Subject until the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Council shall declare them respectively sufficient for the exercise of their respective Jurisdictions and no longer.* * *

"That the Times and Places of holding the said Courts in the said Counties of Strafford and Grafton shall be established as the Governor, Council and Assembly shall Judge most Convenient at the Time the Governor and Council shall determine they may assume the actual exercise of their County Privileges.—But that this act nor any Clause therein shall be in force nor have any Effect till his Majesty's Royal approbation thereof be known."

BOUNDARIES DEFINED

The act of 1791, "declaring the Limits & boundaries of the several Counties in this State," redefined the counties as follows: "Rockingham: Beginning at the Mouth of Piscataqua River and running up the same to the Easterly corner of Newmarket including the River and from thence Northwesterly by the Easterly and Northerly side Lines of Newmarket, Epping, Nottingham, Northwood, Pittsfield, Chichester, Loudon, Canterbury and Northfield to the River Merrimac, and down the same to the line of Concord including the River, then Round the Westerly line of Concord & Bow to Merrimac River, thence down the same to the Northwest Corner of Deerfield, thence by the Northerly and Easterly lines of Derryfield and the Easterly lines of Litchfield and Nottingham West to the State Line, thence by said line to the Sea, thence by the Sea to the bounds first Mentioned, including all that part of the Isle of Shoals which belongs to this State.

THE COUNTIES

When New Hampshire was a part of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, from 1641 to 1679, the principal towns of New Hampshire were part of Norfolk county in Massachusetts. New Hampshire did not divide herself into counties, however, until 1769, six years before the Revolution. In that year the five counties of Rockingham, Strafford, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Grafton were established.

Coos was the sixth county, established in 1803. Merrimack was established in 1823, Sullivan in 1827, and Belknap and Carroll in 1840. Since the original division into counties the legislature on twenty occasions has amended and changed the layout. The following is a list of counties in their customary order, giving the name of each, the date of its establishment and the place of the county seat.

Name	Date	County Seat
Rockingham	1769	Exeter
Strafford	1769	Dover
Belknap	1840	Laconia
Carroll	1840	Ossipee
Merrimack	1823	Concord
Hillsborough	1769	Nashua
Cheshire	1769	Keene
Sullivan	1827	Newport
Grafton	1769	Haverhill
Coos	1803	Lancaster

Rockingham county is in the southeastern part of the state and was the first part settled. Charles Watson Wentworth, the Marquis of Rockingham, friend of the American colonies was a relative and close friend of New Hampshire's governor, Sir John Wentworth. It includes the city of Portsmouth and thirty-six towns.

Strafford county is in the eastern part of the state north of Rockingham county. William Wentworth, the Earl of Strafford, was prominent in English political history and a relative of the Wentworth governors. It includes three cities and ten towns.

Belknap county takes in the lake region in the central part of the state. Dr. Jeremy Belknap, minister at Portsmouth was the author of a history of the state of New Hampshire. It includes the city of Laconia and ten towns.

Carroll county is in the east central part of the state and is sparsely settled. Charles Carroll was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and represented Maryland in the first Congress. He died in 1832. It includes eighteen towns.

Merrimack county is in the Merrimack River region in the south central part of the state. It was named for the river and includes two cities and twenty-five towns.

Hillsborough county is in the south central part of the state and is the most thickly populated. Wills Hill, Earl of Hillsborough, was President of the English Board of Trade and Plantations in 1763 and a friend of Governor Benning Wentworth. It includes two cities and twenty-nine towns.

Cheshire county is in the southwestern corner of the state. Cheshire, England, was the home of Admiral Vernon, who commanded a British fleet and was a relative of the Wentworth governors. It includes the city of Keene and twenty-one towns.

Sullivan county is in the west central part of the state, and like Cheshire county, was embroiled in early boundary disputes. It was named for John Sullivan, and includes the city of Claremont and fourteen towns.

Grafton county is in the northwestern part of the state and large parts of it are sparsely settled. It was named by Governor John Wentworth for the Duke of Grafton, England's sixth Prime Minister and Secretary of State under Lord Rockingham, and includes thirty-nine towns.

Coos county is in the northern part of the state and is the largest county. It was named after an Indian word meaning "crooked" and was so called on account of the bend in the Connecticut River. It has an area of about a million acres and includes the city of Berlin and twenty-one towns.

STATE HOUSE PORTRAITS

The galleries of oil paintings in the State House constitute the best collection of portraits of famous New Hampshire men to be found anywhere. These portraits are the property of the state, some given by descendants or admirers of the subjects, a few purchased by legislative appropriations.

The list of portraits is as follows:

First Floor, Doric Hall

COLONEL ENOCH POOR, a portrait copied by U. D. Tenney from the original by Thaddeus Kosciusko and presented by Colonel Poor's grandson, Colonel Bradbury P. Cilley. The original painting is in an oval locket about two by one and one-half inches in dimensions. Kosciusko sketched it one Sunday in church on a blank leaf of a New Testament, and afterwards the artist, a personal friend of the colonel, colored it and presented it to Colonel Poor. The latter's daughter wore the locket as a breast pin, and upon her death it came into the possession of her son, Colonel Cilley, who had the copy painted. Colonel Poor was born in Andover, Mass., June 21, 1736, later coming to Exeter to live. He held a commission in the French War and was in command of the Third New Hampshire Regiment in the Revolution. This regiment was sent to Canada and Colonel Poor was made brigadier-general in 1777, later being sent to the army in the middle states. He died of fever in camp at Hackensack, N. J., September 9, 1780.

GENERAL JOSEPH CILLEY, portrait copied by U. D. Tenney from an original by Trumbull, presented in 1872 by Colonel Joseph Cilley. General Cilley was born in Nottingham in 1735. In 1758 he enlisted as a private and served on the northern frontiers, later holding a commission under the royal government as captain. At the outbreak of the Revolution he was appointed lieutenant-colonel and made colonel in 1777. After the war he was appointed major-general of the militia and served as representative, senator and councilor. He died in 1799.

GENERAL WILLIAM WHIPPLE, portrait by U. D. Tenney from the original by Trumbull and purchased by the state. General Whipple was born in Kittery, Maine, January 14, 1730, and became a sailor. He was elected to the Continental Congress in 1776 and signed the Declaration of Independence. He was brigadier-general in the War of the Revolution and assisted in negotiating the terms of General Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga in 1777. After the war he became judge of the superior court and died in Portsmouth November 28, 1785.

GENERAL JOHN STARK, copied by U. D. Tenney, 1873, from an original by Trumbull. General Stark was born in Londonderry, August 28, 1728. He served as lieutenant in the French and Indian Wars and became colonel of a New Hampshire regiment at the outbreak of the Revolution. He was in command at the battle of Bennington and was afterwards made brigadier-general. In 1778 he was in command of the Northern army. He spent fourteen years as a soldier but was never wounded. His services in the Revolutionary War were of great value to the country. After the close of the war he returned to New Hampshire and devoted himself to agricultural and lumbering interests. He died in Manchester May 8, 1822.

CAPTAIN JAMES S. THORTON, original by U. D. Tenney. Captain Thornton was born in Merrimack in 1827. He graduated from Annapolis in 1841, was appointed captain in 1872, and commanded, among other vessels, the famous "Kearsarge." He died at Germantown, Pa., 1875.

COLONEL JOSEPH CILLEY, portrait presented by his descendants in 1876. Colonel Cilley was a soldier and statesman, born in Nottingham in 1791. He served in the War of 1812 and was brevetted captain. In 1846-1847 he served as United States Senator, elected as the Democratic candidate. He died in the town where he was born and always lived, in 1887.

GENERAL JAMES MILLER, copied by U. D. Tenney from original by Henry Willard, presented by the family of General Miller. He was born in Peterborough, April 25, 1776, and became colonel and brevet brigadier-general, serving in the War of 1812.

He was governor of Arkansas from 1819-1825, and collector of the port of Salem, Mass., 1825-1849. He died in Temple, July 7, 1851.

GENERAL BENJAMIN FRANKLIN BUTLER, an original by Darius Cobb, 1889, presented in 1889 by the Butler Club of Massachusetts. General Butler was born in Deerfield, November 5, 1818. He was a lawyer and became a major-general the first year of the Civil War. After the war he became a member of Congress from Massachusetts, 1866-1875 and 1877-1879, and governor of Massachusetts in 1882. Two years later he was a candidate for president of the United States. He died in Lowell, Mass., January 11, 1893.

On the day when the above portrait, considered to be Cobb's masterpiece, was to be presented to the state, great preparations were made by the legislature, then in session. General Butler, who was to make the presentation, missed his train. He at once hired an engine and arrived in Concord with the portrait only a few minutes late for the celebration.

COLONEL EDWARD EPHRAIM CROSS, original by U. D. Tenney, 1882, presented in 1883 by Richard E. Cross, a brother. Colonel Cross was born in Lancaster, April 22, 1832. He took the first steam engine and printing press across the Rocky Mountains in 1858. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the Mexican army in 1860, and became colonel of the 5th New Hampshire Volunteers at the outbreak of the Civil War. He died at Gettysburg, Pa., July 2, 1863.

REAR ADMIRAL GEORGE E. BELKNAP, portrait by F. H. Tompkins, 1896. Admiral Belknap was born in Newport in 1832; he was midshipman when only fifteen years of age; commissioned lieutenant, September 16, 1855; lieutenant-commander, 1862; commander, 1866; commodore, 1885; and rear admiral 1889.

GENERAL JOHN McNEIL, portrait presented by his daughters, Mrs. H. W. Benham and Mrs. F. McNeil Potter in 1874. He was born in Hillsborough, March 25, 1784. He served in the War of 1812 and was colonel and brevet brigadier-general. In 1829 he was surveyor of the port of Boston, and died in Washington, D. C., February 23, 1850.

LIEUTENANT JONATHAN EASTMAN, Jr., an original by U. D. Tenney, presented in 1887 by John E. Frye and other descendants. Jonathan Eastman was born in Concord, N. H., November 14, 1781. He served in the War of 1812-1814 in Col. Ripley's regiment as staff officer, paymaster, and quartermaster. He was at the battle of Stony Creek, fought June 6, 1813, near Niagara, N. Y. He was a justice of the peace from 1833 to his death; and a presidential elector in 1848. He died at Concord, March 23, 1867.

GENERAL CHARLES AUGUSTUS DOYEN, portrait by E. Wyatt Kimball, purchased by the state in 1919. General Doyen was born in Concord, September 3, 1859. He graduated from Annapolis in 1881, was midshipman for two years, then promoted through the ranks to colonel in 1898. He saw service in Cuba during the Spanish-American War and in the Philippine Islands, and was in command of United States Marines at Washington at the outbreak of the war with Germany. Promoted to brigadier-general, March 22, 1917, he went to France in command of the 5th regiment, United States Marines, and was in active service in the Verdun sector but was invalided home in May 1918, and later assigned to command at the Marine training camp in Virginia. He died in 1919.

MAJOR EDWARD E. STURTEVANT, original by Ansel Clough. Major Sturtevant was born in Keene, August 7, 1826. He is supposed to have been the first man to enlist from New Hampshire. He was commissioned captain in the 1st Regiment, then captain of the 5th. He was in every march, skirmish and battle of his regiment until his death upon the field of Fredericksburg, when he fell upholding the flag.

COLONEL JESSE A. GOVE, original by A. Tenney, presented in 1874 by the widow of Colonel Gove. He was born in Weare in 1825, later residing in Concord. He was 2nd lieutenant in 1847, captain of the 10th Infantry in 1855, and colonel of the Massachusetts 22nd Infantry in 1861. He was killed at Gaines Mills, June 27, 1862.

COLONEL PHINEAS P. BIXBY, an original by U. D. Tenney, presented in 1877 by friends of Colonel Bixby. When the war broke out in 1861 Colonel Bixby was engaged in practice in Concord. He volunteered for service and was commissioned adjutant of the 6th Regiment, New Hampshire Volunteers. He was wounded at the second battle of Bull Run and was taken prisoner to Libby Prison but later exchanged. In 1862 he received his commission as major, was wounded again at Petersburg, after which he was promoted to lieutenant-colonel in 1864 and colonel in 1865. Died January 16, 1877.

GENERAL AARON FLETCHER STEVENS was born in Derry, August 9, 1819. He moved to Nashua in 1838, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and was in the legislature in 1856-1857. At the beginning of the war he was commissioned major of the First New Hampshire Regiment, then served as colonel in the 13th New Hampshire Regiment from 1862 to the end of the war. He was severely wounded at the assault on Fort Harrison in 1864, and appointed brigadier-general, by brevet, December 8, 1864. After the war he served as member of Congress for two terms, 1867-1871. Died in Nashua, May 10, 1887.

HARRIET P. DAME, portrait by Caroline L. Ransom, 1902. Miss Dame, one of the most noted war nurses in the Civil War, was born in Barnstead, July 5, 1815. She volunteered at the outbreak of the war, was taken prisoner at the Second battle of Bull Run, but was given a pass through the lines. In 1863 she had charge of the New Hampshire soldiers' Relief Rooms in Washington. She was at the battle of Gettysburg, and in 1864 was appointed matron of the Eighteenth Hospital corps. From 1867 to 1895 she was employed as clerk in the treasury department in Washington. She died in Concord, April 24, 1900.

MAJOR EVARTS W. FARR, an original by U. D. Tenney, 1881, presented by Major Farr's widow. Major Farr was born in Littleton in 1840. He was educated at Thetford (Vt.) Academy and Dartmouth. In April 1861 he left college, one of the first to answer Lincoln's call. He was commissioned 1st lieutenant, Co. G., 2nd New Hampshire Volunteers, and promoted to captain in 1862. He lost his right arm at Williamsburg. He became captain and then major of the 11th regiment. After the war he was assessor of internal revenue, solicitor for Grafton County, member of the governor's council, and member of Congress 1879-1880, and died in office.

GENERAL JOHN L. THOMPSON, portrait by U. D. Tenney, 1898. General Thompson was born in Plymouth in 1835. He was colonel of the 1st New Hampshire Cavalry and brevet brigadier-general U. S. V. for distinguished and meritorious services. He died in Chicago in 1888.

JOHN HORACE KENT was born in Barnstead. During the Civil War he was sergeant of the 43rd Massachusetts Infantry, and afterwards was deputy United States provost marshal in Portsmouth. From 1887 to 1888 he was warden of the New Hampshire State Prison, and died in Concord in 1888.

MAJOR GENERAL JOHN G. FOSTER, an original portrait by Alfred E. Smith, purchased by the state August 8, 1927. General Foster was born in Whitefield, N. H., May 27, 1823. He graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1846. He entered the engineering corps, served in the Mexican War; in the Civil War at Fort Sumter and Roanoke Island; was commissioned brigadier-general in 1861; made major-general and, in turn, commander of the departments of North Carolina, Ohio and Florida. In 1865 he was brevetted major-general in the regular army, and later placed in charge of engineering projects in the east. He was ranking officer from New Hampshire in the Civil War. He died in Nashua, September 2, 1874.

CYRUS A. SULLOWAY, portrait by Frank French, 1913, presented by New Hampshire State Veterans Association. Mr. Sulloway was born in Grafton, June 8, 1839. He took a partial course at Kimball Union Academy, was admitted to the bar in 1863 and went to practice in Manchester. He became a member of the United States House of Representatives in 1895, which position he held, by successive re-elections, with the exception of two years, 1913-1915, until the date of his death, March 11, 1917. During the Civil War he enlisted three times but was rejected each time for physical disability. In Congress he defended the cause of the veterans of the war and was instrumental in securing relief for them.

GENERAL GEORGE REID, an original portrait by E. Wyatt Kimball. General Reid was born in Londonderry, N. H., 1733. He was made captain of a company of minutemen in 1775 and fought at Bunker Hill, Bemis Heights and Yorktown. He was made brigadier-general of New Hampshire militia in 1785, and sheriff of Rockingham County in 1791. He died in September, 1815.

GENERAL JAMES REED, portrait copied by Anna DeWitt Reed from an original by Trumbull, presented in 1883 by Mrs. Caroline G. Reed. General Reed was from Fitzwilliam, and at the opening of the Revolutionary War he raised volunteers and marched to Medford where he was commissioned colonel in the Massachusetts line. Later he went to Exeter and took a commission from New Hampshire and was in the battle of the 17th of June at Breed's Hill. Hardships of camp life brought on blindness and he retired from the army in 1776 and died at Fitzwilliam.

REVEREND ISRAEL EVANS, portrait copied by U. D. Tenney from original by an unknown, presented in 1833 by the family of George Porter. Some authorities state that Mr. Evans was born in Pennsylvania and others assert that he was a native of New Jersey. He graduated from Princeton in 1772 and was ordained in 1776. He served throughout the Revolution as chaplain, first being assigned to General Poor's brigade of New Hampshire troops, afterwards with Colonel Scammell, General Stark and General George Washington. He preached to the soldiers at Valley Forge and addressed them at the surrender of Cornwallis. After the war he became minister of the First Congregational Church in Concord and died in that city in 1807, both he and his wife being buried in the Old Cemetery.

GENERAL HENRY DEARBORN, a portrait copied by U. D. Tenney from the original by Gilbert Stuart, purchased by the state. General Dearborn was a soldier and statesman, born in North Hampton in 1751. He was deputy quartermaster-general on Washington's staff in the Revolutionary War. He became major-general of militia in Maine in 1795, United States marshal for Maine in 1789 and served two terms in Congress from that state, 1793-1797. In 1801 he entered the cabinet as secretary of war and served in that capacity until 1809 when he became collector of the port of Boston for three years. The War in 1812 broke out and he resigned to become a major-general in the army during the hostilities. In 1822 he was minister to Portugal. He died in Boston in 1829.

JOSIAH BARTLETT, Jr., portrait presented by Josiah Bartlett in 1873. Mr. Bartlett was a physician in Stratham. He served as state senator from 1809-1811 and as Congressman from 1811-1813. He was killed in May, 1853 when the bridge over which he was crossing gave way.

GENERAL JOHN ADAMS DIX, an original portrait by U. D. Tenney, painted in 1887, presented by friends of General Dix through Henry P. Rolfe. General Dix was born in Boscawen, July 24, 1798. His military career began as captain, U. S. A., which position he resigned in 1828. He became adjutant-general of New York in 1830 and secretary of state of New York in 1833; United States Senator from New York from 1845 to 1849, and secretary of the treasury in 1861. During the Civil War he was major-general of volunteers. After the close of the war he was naval officer of the port of New York, 1866; minister to France, 1866, and governor of New York, 1872.

He was the first president of the U. P. Railroad. He wrote several sketches and made some translations. He died in New York City, April 21, 1879.

JACOB H. GALLINGER, portrait by C. H. Gebhard, presented by Senator Gallinger's sister. He was born in Cornwall, Ontario, Canada, March 28, 1837. He learned and worked at the printer's trade and then studied medicine. He first practiced in Keene but later moved to Concord. He soon entered politics, however, and had a long and successful political career. He was a member of the house of representatives, 1872, 1873 and 1891; of the state senate, 1878, 1879, 1880, being president the last two years; surgeon-general of staff of Governor Head with rank of brigadier-general, 1879-1880; member of Congress, 1885-1889; and was elected United States Senator for six years from March 4, 1891, and four times re-elected, which office he held at the time of his death, August 17, 1918. He was the oldest member of the senate in point of service and leader of the Republican party in that body, being long regarded as the foremost champion of the protective tariff policy.

COMMODORE GEORGE HAMILTON PERKINS, portrait by Daniel Strain, presented by his daughter, Mrs. Larz Anderson. Commodore Perkins was born in Hopkinton, October 20, 1835. He was appointed to Annapolis and became acting midshipman in 1851, and won promotion until he became captain in 1882. By special act of Congress he was made a commodore in 1896, the last to be appointed before the rank was abolished. His service in the navy during the Civil War was distinguished and heroic. He was executive officer of the "Cayuga" at the passage of Forts Jackson and St. Philip, and at the capture of New Orleans in 1862; and commanded the "Chicksaw" in the battle of Mobile Bay, being mainly instrumental in the capture of the "Tennessee." He died in Boston, Mass., October 28, 1899.

EDWARD H. ROLLINS, an original by Daniel Strain. Senator Rollins was born in Rollinsford, October 3, 1824. He started in business as a druggist clerk and later went into the drug business for himself in Concord. He was always actively interested in politics and was made chairman of the first state central committee of the Republican party. He was a member of the house of representatives in 1855, speaker in 1856, and in 1861 was elected to congress, which position he held for three terms. From 1877 to 1883 he was United States senator. He was particularly faithful to his duties as congressman and was rarely absent from any of the sessions. He died July 31, 1889.

JAMES BELL, portrait presented in 1889, by the heirs of Mr. Bell. He was born in Francestown, November 13, 1804, son of Governor Samuel Bell. He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1822, and was admitted to the bar in 1825. He practiced first in Gilmanton, later moving to Exeter and becoming associated with Hon. Amos Tuck. He was in the house of representatives in 1846, and United States senator 1855-1857. He died in Gilford, May 26, 1857.

JAMES W. PATTERSON, crayon portrait presented by Mrs. Patterson. Senator Patterson was born in Henniker, July 2, 1823. He graduated from Dartmouth in 1848, and later taught mathematics there from 1852-1865. He was a member of the house of representatives in 1862; member of Congress, 1863-1867 and United States senator 1867-1873. From 1881-1893 he was state superintendent of education and received the degree of LL.D. from Iowa College in 1868. His literary work included numerous speeches, addresses, lectures and orations. He died at Hanover, May 4, 1893.

MARY BAKER EDDY, portrait by John Nelson Marble of New York City, painted at the request of the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy and presented to the New Hampshire Historical Society, which in turn, presented it to the State. Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science was born in Bow, July 16, 1821. Her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," first published in 1875, is said to have broken every printing and publishing record excepting that of the Bible. During the years of her residence in Concord 1889-1908, Mrs. Eddy directed the founding and establishment of the present Christian Science organization, The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., with its more than 3,000 branch churches throughout the world. BENNING WENTWORTH, portrait copied by U. D. Tenney, 1873, from an original by J. Blackburn, 1760, presented in 1874 by Mark H. Wentworth. Benning Wentworth, the eldest of fourteen children of Lieutenant-Governor John Wentworth, was born in Portsmouth, July 24, 1696. He was governor of the province under two commissions from Kings George II and George III. His administration was the longest in the history of the province and extended from December 15, 1741, to August 11, 1766. During his administration there were French and Indian wars, and while the people of the province performed their part loyally there was much jealousy and lack of harmony between the governor, as the representative of the crown, and the Assembly, as representative of the people. After the establishment of peace in 1762 the condition of the province was more prosperous and many new townships were settled. But a few years later relations with the mother country became strained. It was alleged that the governor was lax in reporting matters to the home government and he was in disfavor in England. Before he could be removed, however, he took advantage of the opportunity to resign and his nephew, John Wentworth, was appointed his successor. Benning Wentworth died in Portsmouth, October 14, 1770.

UNITED STATES SENATORS FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE

The following is a list of the senators from this state, and the years of service. One of the first senators, John Langdon, was chosen president pro tempore of the first national senate in 1789 and presided over that body until Vice-President John Adams qualified as president of the senate by virtue of his office as vice-president. Senator Langdon was again elected president in the second senate in 1792-3. Senator Samuel Livermore was elected president of the fourth senate in 1795-6 and of the sixth senate in 1799-1800. Senator Daniel Clark was elected president of the thirty-eighth senate in 1863-4. Senator Jacob H. Gallinger was elected president of the sixty-second senate in 1911-13. Senator George H. Moses was elected president pro tempore in 1925, re-elected 1927, 1929, 1931.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—1789—1955

Under the constitutional apportionment which provided for a house of representatives in congress, New Hampshire was allotted three seats. The national census of 1790 (first census) increased this to four, the second census of 1800 to five and the third census of 1810 to six seats. The census of 1830 reduced it to five, that of 1840 to four and that of 1850 to three. The census of 1870 reduced it to two, but the seat taken away was restored until the next census of 1880, since when the state has had two representatives.

Revolutionary Councilors, 1776—84

Article 60 of the second part of the constitution provides for an executive council of five men to advise and act with the governor. Before the constitution there was a council both under the temporary constitution of the Revolution and under the provincial government. Since 1913 councilors have been elected by plurality vote to represent population but previously to that they were elected by majority vote to represent property, and in the colonial days they were appointed.

The following is a complete list of all the councilors since the Revolution giving the name and address of each and the year in which he was elected or appointed.

THE SENATE

The senate began under the constitution and first met in 1784. There were at first twelve senators who represented the five counties that then existed, five senators from Rockingham county, two from Strafford, two from Hillsborough, two from Cheshire, and one from Grafton. In 1793 senatorial districts were created to take the place of county representation and each district elected one senator. The elections during the early years took place in March and the legislature met in June annually.

The senatorial districting of 1793 was changed over in 1803 and several times subsequently. In 1878 the senate was doubled in size. In 1915 the senators were elected by plurality instead of majority vote. The following is a complete list of the senators from the beginning, showing the name and residence of each member of each senate, arranged in the order of districts from 1793, when the districts were created, and previous to that year, in the order of counties.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Articles 66, 67 and 68 of the second part of the constitution provide for a department of state with a secretary of state who is elected biennially by the legislature and a deputy secretary of state appointed by the secretary. In the colonial period there was a secretary appointed by the chief executive, but no deputy. During the revolutionary period and under the constitution of 1784 the secretary was chosen by the legislature and given authority to have several deputies, but in 1793 the constitution was changed to provide for a single deputy.

The following is a list of the secretaries of state from the beginning, together with the term which each served and a list of the deputy secretaries.

THE TREASURY

Article 66 of the second part of the constitution provides for a treasurer who is elected biennially by the legislature. In the colonial period the treasurer was appointed by the chief executive and frequently the same man was secretary of the province and treasurer. In 1891 the legislature created the office of deputy treasurer.

The following is a list of the treasurers from the beginning and the term of office each served. A list of the deputy treasurers is also given with the residence and term served by each.

FEDERAL CENSUS OF 1950

Number of Inhabitants

The State. New Hampshire was one of the Thirteen Original States. Its population on April 1, 1950, according to the Seventeenth Census, was 533,242. The State has a land area of 9,017 square miles. In 1950 there was an average of 59.1 inhabitants per square mile as compared with an average of 54.5 in 1940. Among the States and the District of Columbia, New Hampshire ranked forty-fifth in population and forty-third in land area.

In 1790 New Hampshire had a population of 141,885 (table 1). In 1950, 160 years later, its population was nearly four times as large. The rate of population growth of the State has been consistently below that for the Nation as a whole. In the twentieth century, the intercensal rates of growth ranged from a low of 2.9 per cent to a high of 8.5 per cent. In 1900 the population of the State was 411,588, and in 1940 it was 491,524. The increase of 41,718 between 1940 and 1950 was about the same as the record gain of 41,973 recorded between 1790 and 1800, whereas the rate of gain, 8.5 per cent, was the highest only since the period 1890 to 1900.

Usual place of residence. According to usual Census practice, which dates back to 1790, each person enumerated in the 1950 Census was counted as an inhabitant of his usual place of residence or usual place of abode, which is generally construed to mean the place where he lives and sleeps most of the time. This place is not necessarily the same as his legal residence, voting residence, or domicile, although, in the vast majority of cases, these different bases of classification would be identical.

In the application of this rule, persons were not always counted as residents of the places in which they happened to be found by the census enumerators. Persons in places where guests usually pay for quarters (hotels, etc.) were enumerated on the night of April 11, and those whose usual place of residence was elsewhere were allocated to their homes. Visitors found staying in private homes, however, were not ordinarily interviewed there. Information on persons away from their usual place of residence was obtained from other members of their families, landladies, etc. If an entire family was expected to be away during the whole period of the enumeration, information on it was obtained from neighbors. A matching process was used to eliminate duplicate reports for persons who reported for themselves while away and were also reported by their families at home.

Persons in the armed forces quartered on military installations were enumerated as residents of the States, counties, minor civil divisions, etc., in which their installations were located. Members of their families were enumerated where they actually resided. In the 1950 Census, college students living away from home were considered residents of the communities in which they were residing while attending college, rather than as persons temporarily absent from their parental homes as was the practice in 1940. In 1950 the crews of vessels of the American Merchant Marine in harbors of the United States were counted as part of the population of the ports in which their vessels were berthed on April 1, 1950. In 1940 such persons were treated as part of the population of the port from which the vessel operated. Inmates of institutions, who ordinarily live there for long periods of time, were counted as inhabitants of the place in which the institution was located; whereas patients in general hospitals, who ordinarily have short stays, were counted at, or allocated to, their homes. All persons without a usual place of residence were counted where they were enumerated.

Urban and rural population. The 1950 urban population comprised 306,806 persons, or 57.5 per cent of the population of the State (table 1). This population was living in the 21 urban places in the State and in the urban fringe of Manchester. There were 267,157 persons living in the 12 incorporated urban places, 37,463 in the 9 unincorporated urban places, and 2,186 in that part of the urban fringe of Manchester outside of incorporated places. More than four-fifths of the urban population of the State was to be found in the 10 urban places of 10,000 inhabitants or more.

The rural population comprised 226,436 persons, or 42.5 per cent of the population of the State (table 1). Of the rural population, 53,377 persons, or 23.6 per cent, were living in the 36 unincorporated places of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants.

Urban definition. Under the urban definition established for use in the 1950 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns,¹ and villages; (b) the densely settled urban fringe, including both incorporated and unincorporated areas, around cities of 50,000 or more; and (c) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more outside any urban fringe. The remaining population is classified as rural. According to the urban definition used in previous censuses, the urban population comprised all persons living in incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and areas (usually minor civil divisions) classified as urban under special rules relating to population size and density.

In both definitions, the most important component of the urban territory is the group of incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. A definition of urban territory restricted to such places, however, would exclude a number of equally large and densely settled places, merely because they were not incorporated places. Under the old definition, an effort was made to avoid some of the more obvious omissions by the inclusion of the places urban under special rules. Even with these rules, however, many large and closely built-up places were excluded from the urban territory. To improve the situation in the 1950 Census, the Bureau of the Census set up, in advance of enumeration, boundaries for urban-fringe areas around cities of 50,000 or more and for unincorporated places outside urban fringes. All the population residing in urban-fringe areas and in unincorporated places of 2,500 or more is classified as urban according to the 1950 definition. Consequently, the special rules of the old definition are no longer necessary.

According to the 1950 urban definition, the urban population of New Hampshire included the following components: (1) The 267,157 inhabitants of the 12 incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more; (2) the 24,710 inhabitants of the 6 unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more delineated within towns which were entirely urban under special rule in 1940; (3) the 12,753 inhabitants of the other 3 unincorporated places of 2,500 or more; and (4) the 2,186 persons living in the unincorporated territory in the urban fringe of Manchester. Under the old definition, the urban population would have included the inhabitants of the 12 incorporated places of 2,500 or more and the 34,092 inhabitants of the 6 towns (Lebanon and Littleton in Grafton County, Milford in Hillsborough County, Derry and Exeter in Rockingham County, and Newport in Sullivan County) urban under special rule in 1940. A seventh town, Claremont in Sullivan County, was also classified as urban under special rule in 1940; in 1948, however, the entire town was incorporated as a city, and, hence became urban under both definitions by virtue of the incorporation. The 1950 definition classified as urban the 14,939 inhabitants of components 3 and 4 who under the old definition would have been included in the rural population. On the other hand, it included in the rural population the 9,382 persons living in the parts of the six towns urban under special rule in 1940 outside the unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The net effect of the change in the urban definition, therefore, is an increase of 5,557 in the urban population under the new definition.

Trends of urban and rural population. Trends in the urban and rural population can be examined only on the basis of the old definition. On this basis, the urban population increased from 192,240 in 1900 to 301,249 in 1950. The largest numerical increase and most rapid rate of growth in the urban population in the 50-year period came in the decade 1900 to 1910, when the urban population increased 30,912, or 16.1 per cent. Between 1940 and 1950 the increase was 18,024, or 6.4 per cent. The proportion of the population classified as urban increased from 46.7 per cent in 1900 to 56.5 per cent in 1950.

Increases in the rural population of New Hampshire in the past two decades more than offset the declines in the previous 30 years, with the result that the rural population rose from 219,348 in 1900 to 231,993 in 1950. The numerical gain 23,694 between 1940 and 1950 was the largest numerical increase since that recorded in the decade 1810 to 1820. The rate of growth, 11.4 per cent, was also the most rapid since 1810-1820. Despite the gain in the rural population, the proportion of the population classified as rural declined from 53.3 per cent in 1900 to 43.5 per cent in 1950.

Counties. The 10 counties in New Hampshire range in size from Carroll with a population of 15,868 to Hillsborough with a population of 156,987 (table 2). All but one of the counties gained population between 1940 and 1950, whereas in the previous decade all had had increases. Hillsborough County had the largest numerical increase, but the most rapid rates of growth were experienced in Rockingham and Strafford Counties, which had increases of 20.5 and 18.4 per cent, respectively. The decline in Coos County was 3,342, or 8.5 per cent.

Minor civil divisions. To the primary political divisions in which counties are subdivided, the Bureau of the Census applies the general term "minor civil divisions." The more thickly settled counties in New Hampshire are divided into towns and cities, but in Carroll and Coos Counties there are three "locations," eight "grants," six "purchases," and six "townships." Several such special minor civil divisions contained no population at each of the last three censuses and are not shown in table 6.

Table 2 shows statistics on the population of each county by minor civil divisions for the last three censuses. The population of each unincorporated place is shown in italics under the population of the town in which it is located. When an unincorporated place lies in two or more towns, the population of the several parts is shown in table 2 under the appropriate towns, and each part is designated by "part." Unincorporated places are designated by "uninc." Changes between the 1940 and 1950 Censuses in the boundaries of areas listed are shown in notes to table 2. For changes in boundaries prior to the 1940 Census, see reports of the Sixteenth Census (1940), Population, Vol. I, p. 662, and reports of earlier censuses.

Incorporated and unincorporated places. New Hampshire had 12 places in 1950 incorporated as cities and 45 unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more. There were 267,157 persons living in the 12 cities, all of which had more than 5,000 inhabitants. Of the 45 unincorporated places, 9 had 2,500 inhabitants or more and a combined population of 37,463. There were 53,377 persons living in the 36 unincorporated places of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants.

The only political units which are recognized as incorporated places in the 1950 Census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, and villages. Political units which are called towns are also recognized as incorporated places except in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

The Bureau of the Census has delineated boundaries for the thickly settled urban fringe around cities of 50,000 or more and has also delineated boundaries for unincorporated places of 1,000 or more which are densely settled population centers without corporate limits. Although there are unincorporated places within the urban fringe, it was not feasible to establish boundaries for such places and therefore they are not identified as separate places.

The count of urban places in the 1950 Census comprises all incorporated places of 2,500 or more regardless of location and unincorporated places of 2,500 or more which are located outside the urban-fringe areas. Incorporated places of less than 2,500 which lie in the urban fringe are not recognized as urban places.

Urbanized areas. The only urbanized area in New Hampshire is the Manchester Urbanized Area, which had a population of 84,918. Of the inhabitants of the area, 82,732 were living in Manchester, the central city of the urbanized area, and 2,186 in unincorporated territory included in the urbanized area.

Each urbanized area contains at least one city with 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1940 or according to a special census taken since 1940, and some urbanized areas contain two or more cities of 50,000. Each urbanized area also includes the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed in the section below on "Urban fringe." Thus, the territory of an urbanized area may be classified into incorporated parts and unincorporated parts.

An urbanized area may also be divided into central city or cities and urban fringe as defined below.

Central cities. Although an urbanized area may contain more than one city of 50,000 or more, not all cities of this size are necessarily central cities. The largest city of an area is always a central city. In addition, the second and third most populous cities in the areas may qualify as central cities provided they have a population of at least one-third of that of the largest city in the area and a minimum of 25,000 inhabitants. The names of the individual urbanized areas indicate the central cities of the areas.

Urban fringe. The urban fringe includes that part of the urbanized area which is outside the central city or cities. The following types of areas are embraced if they are contiguous to the central city or cities or if they are contiguous to any area already included in the urban fringe:

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more in 1940 or at a subsequent special census conducted prior to 1950.
2. Incorporated places with fewer than 2,500 inhabitants containing an area with a concentration of 100 dwelling units or more with a density in this concentration of 500 units or more per square mile. This density represents approximately 2,000 persons per square mile and normally is the minimum found associated with a closely spaced street pattern.

3. Unincorporated territory with at least 500 dwelling units per square mile.

4. Territory devoted to commercial, industrial, transportation, recreational and other purposes functionally related to the central city.

Also included are outlying noncontiguous areas with the required dwelling unit density located within 1½ miles of the main contiguous urbanized part, measured along the shortest connecting highway, and other outlying areas within one-half mile of such noncontiguous areas which meet the minimum residential density rule.

¹ According to the new urban definition, the urban population comprises persons residing in urban territory but not necessarily in an urban place, which is defined as an incorporated place of 2,500 or more, or an unincorporated place of 2,500 or more located outside an urbanized area. Under the old definition, incorporated places of 2,500 or more and places urban under special rule are classified as urban places.

² Includes 2,186 persons in urban territory outside of urban places.

STATE EMBLEMS

Chapter 13 of the Revised Laws was amended by Chapters 48 and 152 of the Laws of 1945 and Chapter 158 of the Laws of 1947, so that said Chapter 13 now reads as follows:

STATE EMBLEMS

1. Flag. The state flag shall be of the following color and design: The body of field shall be blue and shall bear upon its center in suitable proportion and colors a representation of the state seal; the seal shall be surrounded by a wreath of laurel leaves with nine stars interspersed. When used for military purposes the flag shall conform to the regulations of the United States.

2. When Displayed. It shall be displayed above the state house whenever the legislature is in session and during meetings of the governor and council when expedient, and upon such other occasions as the governor may designate.

3. Flower. The purple lilac, Syringa vulgaris, is the state flower of New Hampshire.

3-a. Tree. The white birch tree, Betula Papyrifera, is the state tree of New Hampshire.

4. Seal. The seal of the state shall be two inches in diameter, circular, with the following detail and no other: A field crossed by a straight horizon line of the sea, above the center of the field; concentric with the field the rising sun, exposed above the horizon about one third of its diameter, the field encompassed with laurel; across the field for the full width within the laurel a broadside view of the frigate Raleigh, on the stocks; the ship's bow dexter and higher than the stern; the three lower masts shown in place, together with the fore, main and mizzen tops, strouds and mainstays; an ensign staff at the stern flies the United States flag authorized by act of Congress June 14, 1777; a jury staff on the mainmast and another on the foremast each flies a pennant; flags and pennants are streaming to the dexter side; the hull is shown without a rudder; below the ship the field is divided into land and water by a double diagonal line whose highest point is sinister; no detail is shown anywhere on the water, nor any on the land between the water and the stocks except a granite boulder on the dexter side; encircling the field is the inscription, SEAL . OF . THE . STATE . OF . NEW HAMPSHIRE, the words separated by round periods, except between the parts of New Hampshire; at the lowest point of the inscription is the date 1776, flanked on either side by a five-pointed star, which group separates the beginning and end of the inscription; the whole form and design to be as follows:

5. State Emblem. The state emblem shall be of the following design: Within an elliptical panel, the longest dimension of which shall be vertical, there shall appear an appropriate replica of the Old Man of the Mountains; surrounding the inner panel, and enclosed within another ellipse, there shall be at the top of the design the words of any state motto which may be adopted by the general court; and at the bottom of the design, between the inner and outer elliptical panels, the words, New Hampshire, appropriately separated from the motto, if adopted, by one star on each side. Said emblem may be placed on all printed or related material issued by the state and its subdivisions relative to the development of recreational, industrial, and agricultural resources of the state.

6. State Motto. The words "Live Free or Die," written by General John Stark, July 31, 1809, shall be the official motto of the state.

OFFENSES AGAINST THE NATIONAL AND STATE FLAGS

(Chapter 443, Revised Laws)

1. Marking Flags, etc. No person shall in any manner, for exhibition or display, place, or cause to be placed any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, character, marks, or notice whatever upon the national flag, or upon any flag, standard, color, or ensign of the United States, or upon the flag of this state, or upon any state flag or ensign of any other state, or upon any flag or ensign evidently purporting to be either of said flags, standards, colors or ensigns.

2. Affixing to flags, etc. No person shall in any manner append, annex, or affix, or cause the same to be done, to any such flag, standard, color or ensign any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, marks, or notice whatever, or exhibit or display, or cause to be exhibited or displayed, any such flag, standard, color, or ensign, or any flag or ensign evidently purporting to be either of the same, upon which shall in any manner be placed, attached, annexed, or affixed any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, marks, or notice whatever.

3. Using as Advertisement. No person shall expose, or cause to be exposed, to public view, manufacture, sell, expose for sale, give away, or have in possession for sale or to give away, or for use for any purpose, any article or substance, being an article of merchandise or a receptacle of merchandise or article or thing for carrying or transporting merchandise, upon which shall have been printed, painted, attached, or otherwise placed a representation of any such flag, standard, color or ensign, to advertise, call attention to, decorate, mark, or distinguish the article or substance.

4. Mutilation, etc. No person shall publicly mutilate, trample upon, defile, deface, or cast contempt upon, either by words or acts, any of said flags, standards, colors, or ensigns, whether the same are public or private property.

5. Penalty. Whoever violates any of the foregoing provisions shall be fined not more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both.

6. Exceptions. Flags, standards, colors or ensigns, the property of, or used in the service of, the United States or of this state, may have inscriptions, names, actions, words, marks, or symbols placed thereon pursuant to law or authorized regulations.

7. Regulations. It shall not be lawful to display the flag of any foreign country upon any state, county, or municipal buildings; provided, that whenever any foreigners shall become the guests of the United States, the state or any city, upon public proclamation by the governor or the mayor of such city, the flag of the country of which such public guest shall be a citizen may be displayed upon such public buildings.

8. Penalty. If any person shall violate any of the provisions of the preceding section he shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

DIRECT PRIMARY

September 14, 1954

DIRECT PRIMARY, 1954

Persons voted for at a primary, who received a plurality of all the votes cast by a party, shall be candidates of that party for the office designated in the ballot. — R. L. 33:50.

The direct primary election was held September 14, 1954, with candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties participating.

In the summary immediately following are the full names and residences of the candidates, also their total votes. Then follow tables carrying the vote in detail and giving only the last names of the candidates.

The first tables give by counties the votes for governor. The next tables give by districts the votes for United States Senator, full and short terms, representatives in Congress, the votes for councilors, and the votes for state senators. Then follow the tables showing the votes for county offices, and recounts after the primary.

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION

September 29, 1954

Preamble

We, the delegates of the Republican State Convention, assembled in Concord on this 29th day of September, 1954, adopt the following statement of principles for which we stand:

National Affairs

We point with pride to the significant accomplishments of the Republican 83rd Congress and the inspiring leadership of President Eisenhower in enacting a constructive and comprehensive national program designed to achieve national security, and economic and social progress, including:

Strengthening of internal security measures and subversive control measures; decentralization of governmental authority; the first complete revision of tax laws in forty years, with the largest cut in income taxes; removal of federal employees from the padded payroll, saving a billion dollars annually; termination of war in Korea, and removal of threats to our peace and security in other parts of the world.

Labor and Industry

We Republicans are proud of the excellent record of labor and management in New Hampshire. The welfare of both workers and employers hinges on the success and prosperity of our economy, and both groups should continue to cooperate as they have in the past, to meet the changing demands of that economy.

We pledge our unceasing effort to continue the successful program of bringing new industry into New Hampshire, and we will work to keep employment at a high level.

We endorse the increase in Social Security benefits sponsored by the Eisenhower Administration.

We will support legislation to assure fair employment practices, minimum wages consistent with our economy, adequate Unemployment and Workmen's Compensation Laws.

Recreation

Recreation being the second largest source of livelihood in New Hampshire, we favor the continuation of aggressive promotion, and of legislation to stimulate its growth.

Agriculture

We will continue promotion and other state services to agriculture, to assure a healthy and dynamic agricultural economy.

Taxation

We oppose a sales tax. We oppose an income tax. We endorse a comprehensive review of the recommendations of the Interim Tax Commission established by the 1953 General Court. We are committed to the traditional Republican policy of "pay as you go" and balanced budgets, resulting from an economical and businesslike administration of state government.

Highways

We endorse the self-liquidating toll road construction program. We recommend the continuation of the present 15-year highway improvement plan which is being carried out without the imposition of new taxes.

Education

The Republican Party believes that the education of our youth is one of the most important functions of our local and state governments.

The University of New Hampshire, our teachers' colleges, our technical institutes, and our secondary and elementary schools, should be supported aggressively.

We advocate increased state aid for education consistent with need. We recognize that the impact of school building construction costs on local communities is a matter of state concern.

Public Health

Since a competent Public Health Department is a vital safeguard to the health of every man, woman, and child within our borders, we urge the continued support of sound public health policies.

Public Welfare

We will safeguard and preserve our welfare measures for the needy sick, and the disabled.

We support uniform state laws in aid of the effective administration of public welfare services.

Veterans

We will continue to give consideration to the rights, benefits, and needs of veterans and their dependents.

Fish and Game

Fish and Game license revenue should continue to be reserved for Fish and Game conservation and propagation. Our ever-increasing recreation industry, and the legitimate demands of New Hampshire citizens require that these funds not be used for other purposes.

Election Laws

We recommend that legislative action be taken to revise the primary and election laws.

Subversives

Since atheistic Communism is the greatest threat to our American way of life, we support state and federal legislation designed to control subversive activities.

Atomic Energy

We advocate a determination of the extent to which this state should enter into the development of atomic energy, either through its state agencies or through interstate compacts with other New England states, or through other cooperative measures designed to supplement federal legislation on atomic energy; and to assure the maximum development of atomic energy by private capital and public utilities, consistent with the national security.

DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION

September 25, 1954

For thirty years the people of New Hampshire have been under the yoke of successive Republican Administrations. The people no longer run the state government; the government runs the people. And the government is dominated by a small, self-perpetuating clique of politicians. This year they hand/picked their candidate for governor without even consulting the rank and file of their own party. We dedicate ourselves to emulate our neighbors in Maine and restore the government to the people.

We continue to support the enlightened policies the Democratic Party has always advocated in the state and nation. The people know our stand. But we believe the issue in New Hampshire now is the preservation of the two-party system.

The aimless growth of the Republican bureaucracy in Concord has isolated the government from the people. It has become arrogant and extravagant. It has impeded the economic development of the state.

We believe the state government can be run on a reduced budget without eliminating a single essential service. We pledge ourselves to reduce state expenditures and repeal the perennial temporary head tax before it becomes a permanent tax fixture. We advocate complete revision of the tax structure but we will not engraft a sales or income tax on the heavy tax burden the people already carry.

We appeal to all citizens, Democrats and Republicans alike, who believe in the sovereignty of the people. We ask for the election of a Democratic governor to rebuke arrogance in Concord, and to restore the two-party system to New Hampshire. We promise an administration responsive to the people.

Recounts After General Election

In this chapter may be found a brief description of the recounts of ballots held by the secretary of state after the general election of November 2, 1954.

In the first column are the figures as officially returned to the secretary of state following the election. The second column contains the recount figures.

In all, twelve recounts were conducted, one for representative in congress, one for state senator district 24, eight for representative, one for supervisor and one for moderator.

Appeals were taken to the Ballot Law Commission in the case of representative in congress and representative to the general court in Jaffrey. No decision had been reached by the Ballot Law Commission at the time this publication went to press.
